The PDI Difference

PDI Financials lives at the heart of your enterprise. All of your data and transaction information feeds back to your financial suite, automating an otherwise error-prone process. Save time, money, and labor with the guarantee that you will have one accurate version of the truth in all your accounting processes.

General Ledger

Seamlessly integrates with other modules and accounting tools, including allocation, amortization, budgets, journal entries, currency valuation, and financial reporting.

Item Reconciliation

Automates reconciliation of common business transactions, including credit cards, lottery, and money orders.

Cash Management

Processes customer charges, invoices, receipts, and statements with support from cash and electronic fund transfers (EFTs), account reconciliations, and positive pay files.

Accounts Payable and Receivable

Automates the processing of vendor payments and customer charges in order to eliminate human error and inaccuracies in addition to labor hours.
